CHEAPER TELEPHONE SERVICE.

Is What the People Want and the Question Now Being Agitated by the Bellefonte Board of Trade.

The Board of Trade met in the Court room last evening, Mr. Shortlidge in the chair. Mr. Rhoads stated, that the present owners of the Glass works, has intimated, that they would make very liberal terms to a practical and responsible party, if they would take hold of the property and operate them successfully. Mr. Al. Garman offered a resolution, that the Board of Trade make known these facts by advertising or otherwise, for the purpose of inviting Glass Manufacturers to become interested in the idle plant, which was adopted.

Mr. Shortlidge stated to the Board, of whom there was a large number present, that to his knowledge, a large amount of capital, belonging to citizens of this place, had been invested far away from here, which has not proved to be remunerative investments, and a large portion of it had been lost. At the same time, there had been opportunites offered at home, the outcome of which had proven to be a more safe and more profitable investment. There seems to be a disposition to look from home to find places to invest money, instead of utilizing our home interest first. This principle was, perhaps, more thoroughly illustrated in the Capitalizing and the construction of the Telephone in our midst. The parties who projected it, and who furnished the money to build it, are unknown to those who patronize it. They came here and asked the privilege of putting up poles, unsightly poles, and after the plant was able to operate, they charged arbitrary prices during the past ten years for, in manycases, unsatisfactory service. We are told that the Capital stock originally was one hundred thousand dollars. Shortly after, the Capital Stock was increased to two hundred thousand dollars and more recently, it was increased to five hundred thousand dollars, and the presumption is, that the income warrants this increase of capitalization, although the patrons of the telephones are not advised as to how much real capital has been paid in and how much watered stock has been issued. It is generally believed, however, that there is more watered stock in the company than cash capital. This company, as well as the Bell people generally, controlled the Telephone business throughout the country with an iron will during the past ten years. Last Spring they took advantage of their patrons in this community, by compelling them to sign arbitrary agreements for the use of the Phones. Among their patrons, who refused to be thus imposed upon, were McCalmont & Co. They had paid this telephone Company during the past ten years, more than One Thousand Dollars from which, they do not believe, that they received $500.00 worth of service, as compared with what they would have received without the Phone, therefore, they consider that at least $500.00 of that money was virtually donated to that astute corporation, They offered to pay the company $5.00 per month for two phones, but they refused to sign an agreement that stipulated $7.00 per month should be the price, if not paid on or before the 15th of each month, thus agreeing to pay $2.00 a month of a penalty in case the $5.00 was not paid exactly on the time stipulated in this arbitrary contract. Where one phone was in use, they required an arbitrary contract of $1.00 per month as a penalty. Certainly no other business concern would demand such arbitrary terms. This undue advantage is awakening the people throughout the country. As an evidence of this fact, the following letter, dated Johnstown, Pa. July 5th, 1895, and addressed to William Shortlidge, President of the Board of Trade, will be read with interest:

"We have an independent Telephone Exchange in Johnstown, Pa. The Bell Company has been charging $60.00 per annum per phone. We organized a stock company, composed of users of Bell phones, distributing two to five shares to each, so that now the Bell Company, has, practically, no subscribers. We did not, at the start, expect to have more than about one hundred and fifty subscribers, as the Bell company had only eighty-five. We now have about two hundred and twenty and it is still growing. The material for the line was purchased from various parts of the country. The Western Telephone Construction Co., of Chicago, Ill., supplied the phones and the Central Apparatus. They give a guarantee to stand between the Company and any lawsuits brought for infringement of apparatus. The work of construction was done by E. B. Cresswell, with whom, you could no doubt, make satisfactory arrangements if you decide to build. Our rates are $30.00 per Annum for a business and $24.00 per Annum for a Phone in residence. At these rates, we estimate that the stock will pay not less than 20 per cent. If you will organize by having the Company composed of all the parties, who are users of phones, it cannot but prove a success. Any information we can give you, that will enable you to build a line economically and satisfactorily will be promptly accorded on receipt af your inquiry. Yours very respectfully. (Signed) W. W. Weaver. "In addition to the above, Mr. Shortlidge read the following, which shows that the people throughout the country are waking up to their own interest relative to Telephone service.

Massillon, O., July 18.—A number of farmers in this vicinity constructed a telephone line for their own convenience last winter, one of its terminals being a grocery store in town. It was their expectation that they would be able to send their messages to the grocery, and have them repeatad over the Bell lines in the city to such persons as they desired to speak with. In this way they were disappointed as the Bell company refused to permit this exchange of business. Angered rather than discouraged, the country people organized a stock company, which was capitalized at $10,000 and proceeded to build a complete town exchange. This rival exchange has now been in operation for four months, and has been the means of bringing down local rates from $36 and $30 per annum to $20 and $15 per annum. In the meantime the new company has increased its capital stock to $20,000. It now announces its purpose to construct a line Winesburg, and from there on to Millersburg.

In addition to this Mr. Shortlidge stated that the picayune local management of the Telephone service in this place was thoroughly developed when they took down the line on the Coal Yard of McCalmont & Co. At that time, McCalmont & Co., intended to put up a private line and connect with their store room. There was four poles standing in the yard. The company did not attempt to remove them; but they cut them down and destroyed them. If that had been done by business people, they would have said, you have paid us a large amount of money, can you use these poles to advantage? They are of no use to us." They did not do that, they acted the dog in the manger and cut them down when they were of no use to them or to any one else. If such acts as this merit patronage, then I admit wrong doing is at a premium.

Mr. Meese stated that the telephone service in this community seemed to be growing more unsatisfactory every day. Mr. Spiglemeyer stated, that the people of Lewisburg, Pa., are moving in the matter, and have a new company organized for the purpose of placing an exchange in the town, with a view of extending the lines throughout Union county, from which the people will realize good and cheap telephone service. The members of the Board present were fully convinced that the time is now at hand for the people of Bellefonte to act in their own interest, and organize a new company with a new exchange by which telephone connection can be had with all parts of Centre county at the lowest possible cost, on the principle, "that money saved is money earned."

Tired of Life.

Last Friday, at noon, Harvey Warden, of Boalsburg, attempted to shuffle off this mortal coil by taking a large dose of corrosive sublimate, and since taking the deadly poison has been suffering terribly and lingering between life and death.

Warden is a man aged about thirty-five and has a wife and four children. He lives in Boalsburg, and has been employed by Samuel Bell, the tinsmith. His friends noticed him being in a despondent and melancholy mood, apparently brooding over some trouble, but never suspected that he would attempt the rash act.

When it was discovered that he was ill last Friday after taking the poison, medical aid was summoned at once and since he has been under the care of Dr. Dale, of Lemont, and Dr. Redlin, of Boalsburg. Wednesday, he was very poorly, and it is thought that he cannot live more than a day or so, and his death is expected at any time.

Various causes are assigned to Warden for attempting suicide.

Wholesale Thievery at Bedford.

Bedford, Pa., August 6.—Last night this town underwent another systematic pilfering. Nine houses in one portion of the town were forced open but few valuables taken. On one street within two blocks five houses were forced. All effort to capture this desperate gang have proven futile.

—Gordon Clark, of Washington, D. C., Secretary of the American Bi-metallic League, and author of "Shylock," is getting out a third large edition of that terrific book, and has written a brief supplement to it entitled "The Anarchists of Wealth." a6-3t.

The Phila. Press on the Situation.

The sensation of the week is the publication in the Philadelphia "Press," of a three column exposure of the beginning and progress of Senator Quay's war on the republican organization and Governor Hastings' administration, in which he has taken into the sweep of his enmity all his former friends who will not follow at his whistle.

It tells how he first broke the peace in January last, and declared war on the republican leaders of Philadelphia, whose leadership had just been endorsed by the people of that city with 61,000 majority.

Penrose was to be nominated for Mayor. There arose a protest against him most dangerous in magnitude and character. He was denounced from pulpit after pulpit. A handbill or poster was stuck up all over the city, signed by 1,200 leading republicans, including a large majority of all of the clergymen, of all the creeds, representing congregations in Philadelphia. This was followed by another poster, signed by an equal number of the wives and daughters of Philadelphia's leading citizens.

It was significantly printed on yellow paper, the color of the quarantine flag with which the health authorities warn people against a pestilence.

It was openly declared that a public indignation meeting would be called and an independent ticket put in the field against Penrose.

In the face of this protest of morality, the republican leaders of Philadelphia rightly refused to take the responsibility of such a nomination. Penrose appealed to Quay to interfere. They came over to Philadelphia three days before the primaries and after a full consultation with David Martin, the principal republican leader, at which Penrose himself was present, even they saw the danger and explicitly agreed that he should not be nominated.

Cameron dared not let Philadelphia be turned over to the democracy, after a scandalous republican defeat. Quay agreed with him and in this acted wisely.

But after they went home, Penrose, urged on by a few of his personal backers, prominent among whom was that cunning democratic veteran, Col. A. K. McClure, of the Philadelphia "Times," renewed his importunities, and pursuaded Quay to break the agreement. On the very day of the primaries, and within twenty-four hours of the meeting of the convention, Senator Quay came back to Philadelphia, listened to Penrose, McClure and the like, and sent for Martin to order him to force the nomination of Penrose—as Delamater's nomination was forced.

Martin refused, and the next day Quay declared war, denouncing on the floor of the United States Senate in most opprobrious language, this man David Martin, who had been a big enough and good enough republican only a short time before for Senator Quay to name him in his place as the representative of all Pennsylvania upon the Republican National Committee.

Then when the Legislature met, Penrose, following up Senator Quay's war, had the much talked of Lexow committee appointed, with ex-State Chairman "Bill" Andrews, of the Delamater scandal, as its chairman, to threaten Philadelphia with a one-sided investigation, and so club the leaders into line. It was openly boasted that this committee would never investigate, but would be used simply as a club. It was invented early in the winter, appointed in the spring, and has not had a meeting yet. It is expected that Andrews will call it together with a flourish of trumpets, about two weeks before the State convention, in the hope of helping Quay with some roorback testimony which there will be no time to answer.

Finding that Governor Hastings would not turn over his appointing power in Philadelphia to be used against the republican leaders there, Senator Quay next made war on him. He never had much confidence in Hastings as an obedient servant, anyhow, and had therefore defeated him with Delamater in 1890.

The Governor had pledged the party especially to apportion the State, in accordance with the command of the Constitution, which he was sworn to enforce. There had been no Senatorial apportionment for over twenty years, and some districts had four times the population of others. When the Republican apportionment bills were before the House for final passage, and were in charge of a republican caucus, Senator Quay, who had taken no visible hand to help pass Republican bills all winter and spring, came to Harrisburg for the first time, took command of a minority of the republican members, bolted the republican caucus, made a deal with the solid democratic vote of the House, and beat the bills.

Then also began the war on State Chairman Gilkeson. He was and always has been, Senator Quay's political friend. As such he was appointed to the important trust office of Comptroller of the United States Treasury. As such he was chairman of the Republican State Committee at a time when it was most essential to make a strong showing of reaction against the flood-tide of Democratic victory. He made it by winning Republican victory in Pennsylvania in the two campaigns which he managed, by the largest majorities in the history of the party. As Senator Quay's friend, as well as in recognition of his high services to the party, Governor Hastings made him a member of his cabinet.

But when Senator Quay made his alliance with the Democrats in defiance of the Republican caucus, the governor's policy, and the party honor, Gilkeson refused to follow the crack of the whip, and stood by the Governor.

For this Gilkeson must be deposed and humiliated. Andrews was first put forward as the Quay candidate against him. The State, remembering Delamater, cried out against it. Other names were suggested, but showed no strength. Then Andrews and the disgruntled Penrose persuaded Quay to lend his own name for the campaign, make the fight, and turn the chairmanship over to Andrews to administer as he administered it for Delamater in 1890.

The only thing left to add contempt to the whole proceeding in the eyes of decent Republicans is not lacking. While publicly declaiming against the so-called corruption in the city of Philadelphia, Quay has been secretly seeking to dicker for his own advantage with the very man whom he calls chief corruptionist. While denouncing Martin, he has been coming to Phila., seeking secret interviews with him and making propositions which Martin has spurned.

This is the whole candid story as this sensational article candidly and specifically set it forth, and invites and defies denial. It has stood four days, uncontradicted and undined.

We have waited in fairness to Senator Quay, to give him a hearing before circulating among our readers.

Texas Fever at Birmingham.

Huntingdon, Pa., August 6.—Texas fever in its most violent form has broken out among the cattle in the vicinity of Birmingham, this county. Out of ten finely bred cattle belonging to Alfred Grier of Birmingham, four are dead and the others are not expected to recover. Dr. H G. Patterson, of Altoona, a veterinary surgeon pronounces the disease Texas fever. Other cattle have died of the fever near Birmingham and many are now afflicted. The state board of agriculture will begin an investigation to-morrow, with the view of stamping out the disease. It is supposed that the malady was brought here over the railroad by infected hay and other food falling along the tracks where the first of the afflicted cattle were accustomed to feed.

Celebrated His Seventieth Birthday.

On Monday, August 5th, most all the children of Philip Welty, at Pleasant Gap, with a large number of grandchildren, began to spend the day with their aged parents. Young and old alike gave themselves up to the fullest enjoyment of the day. No accident of any kind occurred that would in any way mar the day's pleasure, only the time of departure came too soon; as the day began to draw to a close the time of saying good bye and wishing they may all spend many more such happy days at the home of their parents could not be prolonged. The children present were Mrs. Ellen Barlet, of Scotia; Mrs. Jane Seitz, of Haselton, Ohio; Mrs. Emma Seitz of Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. Annie Garbrick, of Coleville; Mrs. Martha Wasson, of Pleasant Gap, and Miss Blanche and Reuben, at home with their parents. Those absent were Mrs. Alice Biddle, of Buffalo Run, and George of North Bend, Clinton county.

Will Practice in Altoona.

Dr. H. K. Hoy, Bellefonte's leading eye and ear specialist, has opened up an office in Altoona, as successor to Dr. J. W. Allen, deceased, and will practice his profession in that city. At the present he does not intend to take his family there, but if he succeeds in building up the practice he anticipates, he will finally move there and settle definitely. We congratulate the doctor on the good prospects ahead of him, but we are sorry that Bellefonte must be the loser of such a good citizen. During the Doctor's absence in Altoona his practice here will be attended to by Dr. Loche. Dr. Hoy's Altoona office will be at 1017 Fourteenth street.

ANOTHER RACE WAR.

Italian and Negro Miners Have a Battle in Spring Valley.

Princeton, Ill., August 4.—The Italians of Spring Valley broke out to day in a war upon the negroes, with a view of either massacreing them or driving them from without the city limits. The following negroes were seriously injured:

Granville Lewis, aged 45 years, may die; Clem L. Martin, aged 32, seriously injured; Norman Bird, aged 38, internal injuries; Mrs. Bird, aged 31; Maria Bird, aged 14; William Lee, aged 34 years; Jube Sterritt, aged 47 years; Oscar Prim, bruised with rocks and stones; Silas Burken, bruised with clubs and shot; Jude Stuart, Jim Kelly aged 26 years; Will Beck, aged 30 years, internal injuries; Frank Turner, aged 68 years, struck in back and shoulders by about forty buckshot; Frank Burns, head badly bruised and internal injuries.

The Italians for several months have wished to drive the negroes out of the coal mining belt and to-day a plausible excuse for so doing presented itself. At 1 o'clock this morning an Italian was waylaid on the public highway by four negroes and robbed and shot four times, from the effects of which he cannot live until morning. A mass meeting of the Italians was called, and at 10 o'clock a mob of over 300 that had gathered started out for the negro village, which is located two miles west of Spring Valley. They were headed by the Spring Valley Italian band, and to deceive the negroes into thinking the assembly a peaceable one this band rendered several national airs.

The negroes, as a result, remained in their homes. The Italians fell into them like a lot of Indians. The men were dragged out, clubbed, trampled upon and made the targets for the shotguns, rifles and small arms the mob had brought with them. The women were insulted, slapped and two of them while begging for mercy were shot down and fatally injured.

Sheriff Clark, of Princeton, was telegraphed for and arrived on the ground with a posse, but came too late as the work had been done before he arrived. The negroes fled terror stricken over the surrounding hills and to-night are sleeping under trees and barns, with the exception of a few whom the farmers are sheltering. Many of the injured are expected to die before morning. No arrests, as yet, have been attempted.

Board of Trade.

The Bellefonte Board of Trade held an interesting meeting in the court house Tuesday evening at which some very important matters were considered. President William Shortlidge was in his place as well as Secretary Clement Dale together with a goodly number of members who yet have unbounded confidence that the Board of Trade is destined to accomplish good for the town and vicinity.

The question of starting the glass works was fully discussed. John P. Harris has made the generous proposition to lease the plant to any responsible firm, free of rent two years, for the purpose of manufacturing glass. The secretary was directed to correspond with a number of firms; also insert an advertisement in certain newspapers, offering inducements and setting forth the advantages to be derived from locating in Bellefonte.

It Might Have Been a Bear.

On Tuesday morning while several men from Marklesburg, says the Huntingdon Local News, were picking huckleberries on the mountain near that place, they saw what they supposed to be a large black bear disappear in a cavern in the rocks. Having placed guards at the opening, one of the party started to Marklesburg for help and returned with sixteen well armed men. After having fired several shots into the cavern hoping to frighten the monster from his retreat, a bald eagle appeared upon the scene which was quickly dispatched. The eagle measured five feet and was the largest ever seen by the inhabitants of Marklesburg. The episode caused a great deal of excitement.

Shot a Wild Cat.

Joel Buckwalter, the aged jeweler of this place, while walking from Williamsburg, Blair county, on Tuesday, met a wild cat on the road near the top of the mountain. He pulled out his revolver and shot the animal dead at the first shot. While examining the wild cat, he discovered a hawk hovering over him, and waiting his opportunity he fired his revolver at it, shooting it in the neck and it dropped dead at his feet. Mr. Buckwalter is 63 years old, and in his younger days was considered a good shot. It seems that he hasn't lost his skill, and he feels quite elated over his success.

The "Blue Laws" in Tyrone.

On Saturday last Burgess J. W. Howe, of Tyrone, issued the following proclamation: "Since the laws of the State make it an offense to conduct any unnecessary business on Sunday; since it is the sentiment of a goodly number of our citizens that as far as practicable the spirit of that law should be observed and since six of our local tradesmen, dealing in tobacco and cigars, have voluntarily decided to hereafter close their places of business on Sunday, I deem it proper at this time to direct:

"That from and after this date, Aug. 3 1895, all traffic in tobacco and cigars within Tyrone borough limits on the first day of the week, namely: Sunday must be discontinued. As heretofore no merchandising of any kind will be permitted on Sunday, except that vendors of ice cream, milk ice and necessaries of life make delivery of such articles on Sunday, orders for which shall have been received during any one of the six preceding days. This is lawful.

"Nothing in this proclamation must be construed as interfering with the rights of inn-keepers and restaurant keepers in supplying their guests and travelers with food; or with liverymen in letting teams for hire; or with railroads in the transportation of passengers and freight on necessary occasions, or any other manner making an unreasonable application of the law."

Now the above is, of course, within the spirit and intent of the law, but it is the one surest possible way of killing a live town, and only a Bellefonter, who has been living under such restrictions all his life, knows it so well. Here we have no Sunday trains and in every other way live entirely subject to a law that was passed for the eighteenth century and not for this advanced age of civilization. Just on Sunday was a practical illustration of such an edict as the above. A crowd of Philipsburg wheelmen rode over the mountain on their wheels to Bellefonte arriving here near noon. Naturally, they were all tired and thirsty and the first thing they desired was a drink of soda and a poor cigar; but, although they made a tour of the town, they could not get either, and a more disgusted set of young men could not have been found in the whole county.

Another point is this: Tyrone heretofore has been a good Sunday stopping place for commercial travelers, because they could get a cigar, a Sunday paper, soda, etc., when they wanted it. But who ever heard of a commercial man spending Sunday in Bellefonte? If there ever was one, he was a new man, and he never spent a second Sunday here. Of course, the News is aware of the fact that to advocate such a doctrine will call down condemnation on its head, but it is the only thing to do if we want our old town to waken up and boom.

Scribner & Smith's Circus.

Scribner & Smith's big new twenty-five cent circus is again to visit our great city on next Saturday this really great show is entirely new this year in all departments and much has been added since last seen here. Bazal, the giant elephant, is retained as one of the many features. Several new cages of rare animals have also been secured by Scribner & Smith's foreign agent at an enormous expense, they having arrived from the foreign lands April 10th, after a rather stormy passage. Prominent among the numerous acts engaged by Mgrs Scribner & Smith, will be found Willie Lowanda, champion bareback rider, Frank Cooper the worlds greatest hurdle rider, Danny O'Brion, conceded by press and public to be the champion leaper of the world. This year the show is composed of 300 men and women, 100 thoroughbred horses, 3 bands of music, 8 golden tableaux cars, 3 open dens of wild animals 15 gilded cages, 8 big tents. It is without doubt, the largest and best 25ct. circus that has ever appeared in your section.

THE great want of Americans is accuracy. Some men live in a kind of mental telescope, through whose magnifying medium every anthill is turned into a mountain. If a man is to be accurate, he must be taught to be accurate in his childhood. Let your boy with the first lispings of speech be taught to speak accurately on all subjects, be they trivial or important, and your boy when he becomes a man will scorn a lie. Teach your boy to be sober, honest, modest and truthful in his observations. By example show him the strict letter of the fact and do not deal in the marvelous. If your boy has committed a fault or carelessly broken anything and takes the full blame upon himself and makes no excuse about it, that boy will make every inch a man. Encourage him to tell the truth. Don't whip him because like a little man, he tells the truth. Whip him—he may lie the next time to escape the whipping.

Wagon Company Assigns.

Cincinnati, Aug. 1.—The Standard Wagon Company and the Davis Company assigned this afternoon to Edward Ritchie with preference. The Standard is reported as having $300,000 assets, and $400,000 liabilities, and the Davis Company $150,000, but no statement of liabilities is given. President Burrows, of the unfortunate concern, attributes the failure to the alleged fact that the banker's dollar has doubled in value while the value of the manufacturer's dollar has decreased, and as a consequence depreciation in really good assets makes it impossible for him to meet liabilities.

Snake and Rat Story.

The story is told of how a novel plan was adopted in Potter county lumber camp to get rid of a lot of rats. A rattle snake was caught alive and held by means of a forked stick while a piece of calf's liver was placed in front of the snake. The rattler was teased and in its anger it struck the liver over and over again. The meat, impregnated with the poison, was then cut up and put where the rats could get it, the result being that eighteen rats turned up their toes in one night after nibbling the liver.

They Want Gold.

Washington, Aug. 2.—Treasury officials were surprised this afternoon when informed that a demand had been made on the sub-treasury at New York for a considerable sum of gold for export. The amount exceeds two million, and opens up another gap which the Morgan-Belmont bond syndicate may feel called upon to fill. One million was called for by the bank of Montreal, and upwards of a million and a quarter by the coffee importing houses. This withdrawal does not appear in the statement issued to-day, as the treasury has not been officially advised of the transaction. According to the official figures issued at 2 o'clock this afternoon the reserve stands at $107,116,251, a loss since yesterday of $116,251.

Acting Secretary Curtis says the withdrawal indicates noting more than a desire on the part of the American importers to pay their debts as they fall due, the export of gold at this season being occasioned by the liquidation of foreign accounts. The information came to Assistant Secretary Curtis by long distance telephone. The shipping of gold to the Montreal bank is not, the secretary says, an unusual occurrence. That bank has large credits in New York, and this call for gold is, he thinks, on account of the demand for settlement. Assistant Secretary Curtis scouts at the idea of any attempted run on the treasury gold.

Railroad Speculation.

The Cleveland Dispatch says: Some of the railway men now declare that they know why Calvin Brice bought the Pittsburg, Akron and Western railroad a short time ago. They claim to know with certainty that he is forming a great railroad system which will be the shortest route between Chicago and New York, and have ramifications to many of the great business centers. The lines will be between the Vanderbilt system on the north and Pennsylvania on the south and will cross the Erie in several places. The Cleveland Akron and Columbus is the link connecting with Cleveland.

Brice has made a deal with the Buffalo Rochester and Pittsburg railroad, which has built a line to Clearfield, and got close connections with the Beech Brook railroad which feeds into the Philadelphia and Reading at Williamsport. Thus is afforded an outlet to tidewater.

Such a combination would give Bellefonte further railroad facilities, for a western outlet via the Central Railroad of Pennsylvania.

Corbett is Now Divorced.

New York, August 2.—Judge Gildersleeve, in the superior court, signed a decree today granting Mrs. Ollie Corbett an absolute divorce from her husband, Pugilist James J. Corbett. The decree was signed upon the recommendation of Referee Jacobs, who heard the testimony and who reported that the evidence showed that Corbett had been guilty of improper conduct with a woman named Vera.

The decree provides that Corbett shall pay his wife $5,200 a year alimony. In case Mrs. Corbett remarries she will forfeit the alimony. She is authorized to resume her maiden name, Ollie Lake, and can remarry, Corbett cannot remarry until his wife is dead.

The Worst of All.

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—"General" Jacob S. Coxey was to-day nominated for governor by the populist state convention. Among the planks of the platform adopted were the following:

Declaring it the reason to issue interest-bearing bonds in time of Debs was a subversion of the right to trial by jury, and demanding that all the public monopolies be nationalized; favoring the state control of the sale of intoxicating liquors without profit; declaring in favor of the election of all state and national offices by direct vote of the people; favoring the eight hour system of state employment.

"Going into a decline." How often do we hear this expression. What does it mean? It means that people are losing flesh, growing thin, wasting,

The way to correct this condition is to improve the digestion. The condition arises from an inability to eat and digest food. In fact food does more harm than good because it ferments and putrefies in the stomach, developing poisonous substances which when absorbed cause various disorders.

What is required is that the stomach be made to perform its duties. The Shaker Digestive Cordial is a food already digested and a digester of food as well. It will make the stomach healthy. Get a book from the druggist and read about it.

Richest Farm Counties.

A great deal of gratifying comment has followed the publication of the fact that Pennsylvania has three of the six leading agricultural counties in the United States. According to the United States census of 1890 the leading counties in the value of agricultural products and the farm values follow: 1, Lancaster county, Pa., $7,657,790; 2, St. Lawrence county, N. Y., $6,054,160; 3, Chester county, Pa., $5,863,800; 4, Worcester county, Mass., $5,489,430; 5, Bucks county, Pa., $5,411,370; 6, Colasa county, Cal., $5,357,350, Lancaster has long been known as the richest farming county in America and the census proves it. This does not mean the value of the land, but the value of the yearly farming product. Lancaster leads by great odds in the value of farm lands, although it is only one-third as large at St. Lawrence county, N. Y.

SLAUGHTER OF TRAMPS.

In a Freight Wreck on the Fort Wayne Yesterday.

Canton, August 2.—Stark Siding, two miles east of here, on the Fort Wayne, was the scene of a disastrous freight wreck at 2.30 o'clock this morning, in which three men lost their lives and five more are lying in a hospital in this city more or less injured. The train, which was an extra going west, broke in two at the Summit, and ran into the front end, when they stopped for water at the tank. Eight cars were smashed into kindling wood and traffic was delayed about two hours.

The names of the injured are: William McCoy, Pittsburg; Michael Moran, No. 434 Merchant avenue, Cleveland; Tom Collins, South Bethlehem, Pa.; Richard Reed, Denver; Adolph Suder, New York; John Luzen, Chicago; Charles Eckert, Philadelphia; S. Richardson, Mason City, Mo.; Louis Simson, Pittsburg.

These men were all tramps, riding in an empty box car. The trainmen escaped uninjured.

Tom Collins was killed. Mike Morn, of No. 434 Merchant avenue, Cleveland, is seriously hurt, and may die. Adolph Suder and Louis Simpson, of Pittsburg; John Luzen, of Chicago, and Charles Eckert, of Philadelphia, are badly hurt.

The names of the others killed are yet unknown.

Company B Notes.

The Altoona Times, in an article on the citizen soldiers, had the following of interest here:

Company Clerk Roy B. Mattern, of Bellefonte, is another State College cadet. He graduated in 1892. He is known in Altoona as a foot ballist, having played here on several occasions.

Claude Smith, a private in Company B, is another soldier, who is known here. He is a bicyclist and defeated Gus Schellhaus in a ten mile race at the driving park a year ago. He lived here a short time.

Ex-Adjutant H. C. Quigley and ex-Lieutenant Colonel Mullen, of Bellefonte, were two prominent ex guardsmen who were going to Glencairn yesterday. Both are candidates for captain of Company B and, in a talk with the members of the company, it was found that the first—named gentleman had the endorsement of the entire company and would likely be elected at camp. Adjutant Quigley is a West Point graduate. Colonel Mullen is a veteran of the late war.

Company B. being without a captain was in charge of First Lieutenant George Jackson. The second lieutenant of the company is Hugh Taylor, a State College graduate, now a lawyer of Bellefonte. Both Jackson and Taylor are popular among their subordinates, as was shown when they were elected to their positions. The balloting resulted in a deadlock, which was only broken by a compromise, which placed Jackson first and Taylor second lieutenants.

He Was Seeking Blood.

A religious crank, armed with a knife a foot long and a revolver, stalked up the main aisle of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Cathedral in Pittsburg and declared that he would kill everybody in the church. It was Daniel Maloney, and he said when he had finished his bloody work there he would go to the Episcopal residence and then kill Bishop Phelan and all the priests. By the time he reached the altar, where he intended to commence the massacre, the congregation paecipitately fled outside and gave the alarm. Maloney, after making a rapid tour of the church, waving his knife as he went, started for the Episcopal residence, uttering threats as he proceeded. He was arrested before proceeding very far and locked up.

Funny, But Not For the Farmer.

A farmer from Saulk Prairie, Wis., was at Barbaroo the other day, and while in town bought a suit of clothes, placed the bundle on the seat beside him and started for home, says the Barraboo News. It was getting quite dark when he reached the river bridge and the idea struck him that it would be a great surprise to discard his old clothes and go home in a new suit. He pulled off his clothes and threw them into the river, a piece at a time. When he had nothing on but a shirt he reached for the package, but it was no longer in the wagon. The night was cold and he went home at a two-forty gait. He surprised his family completely, and the next morning when he went out and found the package hanging to the brake of his wagon he was somewhat surprised himself.

A Brave Man Dead.

Reading, Pa., Aug. 2.—P. Cassidy, one of the best known passenger engineers on the Philadelphia and Reading railroad, died today from an affection of the kidneys aged 42 years. He acquired distinction during the railroad riots of July, 1877. When W. Savacool was driven from the cab of his locomotive by the mob in the main depot in this city, Cassidy bravely stepped into the cab and amid a shower of clubs and stones he took the train through to Pottsville.

Paid Too Much for Their Money.

Washington, August 2.—In the matter of charges that money was being loaned at exorbitant rates to men on the receiving ship Vermont, investigated by a court of inquiry recently, Acting Secretary McAdoo to-day passed up on the report of the court. It is understood that Pay Clerk Moriarty is to be dismissed and Captain Silas Casey and Paymaster Tiffany, of the Vermont, to be reprimanded, also that the members of the court of inquiry are to be censured for not fully carrying out their orders.

Mishaps of Farmer McFarlane.

During this summer Farmer J. K. McFarlane has been engaged in repairing and beautifying his country home near Hunter's park. While the plastering was going on Kyle got a sled, and, putting a barrel on it, went to the creek for the purpose of hauling water. After filling the barrel he attempted to drive out of the creek but was unsuccessful. He finally stood on the back end of the sled, and in an unguarded moment the horses started and the driver fell back into the water and for a few moments there was a terrible moving of the troubled waters. After a good bit of toil and anxiety he was able to reach the shore safe and sound but he looked like a drowned rat.

We cannot refrain from speaking of another of his mishaps. He purchased a pair of brogans and to make them last longer he drove nails into the soles of them. In getting off the wagon he slipped and fell, his head going into a pile of sand, and the only thing in sight were his legs ornamented with the plow shoes. Again he relieved himself from his uncomfortable and perilous position and the sand pile looked as though a cyclone had struck it. He has survived these vicissitudes in life to fight and conquer yet another day. It was enough to make a man swear but there is no record that he ventilated his thoughts.

Same Thing Over Again.

New York, Aug. 1.—Bridget Gregg, 24 years old, was accidentally shot and killed at her home this morning on West Fortieth street, by Martha Reilly, of the same address. Miss Gregg was a boarder in the house. Martha Reilly, who did the shooting, was the cook.

Miss Gregg and another boarder, Maggie O'Beirne, were amusing themselves in the kitchen. Their arms were locked together and they were engaged in dancing when the Reilly woman picked up a pistol from the table, and, aiming it at the two girls, said:

"I will shoot both of you."

This was evidently said in fun, but the weapon was discharged.

NEW DISCOVERY.

Among the many discoveries of the present age, none rank higher than the new metal silvereen, which owing to its great durability and cheapness is bound to take the place of silver in the manufacture of fine tableware.

Silvereen is a beautiful white metal, will not tarnish or rust, and all goods made from it are warranted.

We want every one to have a chance to compare silvereen with silver, so for the next sixty days we are going to give away one half dozen Crown Silver Tea Spoons Free, to every person who will send for one of our Terry's Silvereen sets, containing six Tea Spoons, one Sugar Shell, one Butter Knife. If at any time the Silvereen goods do not prove satisfactory, return them and your money will be refunded. Remember we give you the Silver Spoons.

DEAR READERS:

We have heard from many of you during the brief period that our advertisement appeared in this space. Any others desiring full reports and statements can secure same by writing to us.

The further opening up of the South Central group of gold mines, and the erection of a Stamp Mill to reduce the company's ore to bullion, is a square, legitimate ure of capital.

1. Mr. Barry, formerly of Cripple Creek, the Bonanza gold camp of Colorado, sold his interests there, and bought the Morning Star gold mine, a producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

2. Captain Plummer, formerly of the Granite Mountain mine, is now working the Delamar Mine, a large producer in the vicinity of the South Central group.

As the Granite Mountain (Gold and Silver Mining Co.) stock rose from about twelve cents a share to over $50 a share, and paid from 25 cents to 50 cents per share per month in dividends, under the superintendency of Captain Plummer, we consider him a pretty safe guide to follow in mining, and we invite you to participate in the nvestment.

IT IS THE PLAN OF SCRIBNER'S to give its readers next year a history of the past 25 years in the United States. (1894-95.) These years have been unparralleled in the history of the world for national development and material progress. The narrative will be written in a graphic and picturesque style by President Andrews, of Brown University, and capable artists will illustrate it.

ROBERT GRANT whose "Reflections of a Married Man" will long be remembered, has written a series of articles on "The Art of Living," in which he seeks himself to solve, as far as such problems can be solved, questions which beset every well-to-do family: The Income—The dwelling—Household Expenses—Education of Children—Married and Single Life—The Summer Problem, etc., etc. Beautifully illustrated.

GEORGE MEREDITH, whom more than one good authority has pronounced the greatest of living novelists, has written a strong serial, "The Amazing Marriage" to begin in January.

D. HOWELLS, will contribute a novel entitled "The Story of a Play."

IN THE LAND OF DON QUIXOTE will be a series of three sketches illustrated by Daniel Vierge's wonderful drawings.

SINGLE ARTICLES in great variety have been arranged for and the illustrations will be eleborate.

From a Wife's Note Book.

Did you ever try to discover the easiest methods of accomplishing the household tasks.

Did you ever clean vinegar bottles with crushed egg shells in a little water?

Did you ever use an oyster for baiting a rat trap? You will catch him sure!

Did you ever have occasion to clean paint brushes in which the paint had partly hardened? First soak them in turpentine, then clean with soap and water.

Did you ever want to tint the cake frosting? Lemon juice will whiten it, the grated rind of an orange strained through a cloth will give it a yellow tint, and strawberry or cranberry juice will produce a pretty shade of pink.

Did you ever realize the importance o salting the steak after it is broiled, not before? Every housewife should know the reason why.

Did you ever notice the difference between old and new flour when used for pastry? The old is always preferred.

Did you ever have baking dishes or cups spoiled by remaining too long in the hot oven? The brown discolorations may be rubbed off with a flannel dipped in whiting.

Did you ever brush pie crust over with the white of an egg before putting the fruit in it? It will keep it from becoming "soggy."

Did you ever make excellent ironholders, and at the same time utilize the tops of a pair of worn-out boots or shoes? Cut the leather into squares and cover it with some suitable material, using as many thicknesses of the leather as desired, and whipping it closely in place? These will prove very serviceable.

Did you ever make pudding bags of heavy jean? It is the very best material for this purpose. Before putting in the pudding the bags should be well greased and afterwards dredged with flour. A space equal to at least a third of the space occupied by the pudding should be left above it, to allow for its rising.

To Parents Who Have Young Boys.

It seems strange that in this town which has such musical talent that the children, especially boys, are allowed to grow up without any musical knowledge whatever. Boys who sing in my choir get some knowlede of music and are also paid for their work. It will not be anything but an advantage to a boy to be able to sing if he is taught to sing properly. I would like some parents who have boys about 9 or 10 years old to allow them to attend choir rehersals for one month, and I feel sure that at the end of that time the boys will be allowed to become regular members of the choir. I should be pleased if parents would consider this for the sake of their children.

Respectfully,
W. A Goodwin,
Organist and choir master St. John's Church, Bellefonte.

The Gem of the Ocean.

The Columbia's performance on her run from Southampton to New York, which she made inside of seven days, establishes her position as the swiftest man-of-war afloat. This is equal to the ordinary time of the very fast passenger steamers, and while she did not, of course, equal the exceptional record made by the fastest of them, she came so near to it, without forcing, as to justify the belief that she could, if required, overtake any of the "greyhounds," and certainly could not be overtaken.

Recalling the alarm about the Columbia's supposed straining in the dry dock, and considering also that she was provided with only ordinary coal and was without her full complement of engineers, this performance is most gratifying, and must be particularly so to the officials of the Navy Department and to the Philadelphia shipbuilders by whom the magnificent cruiser was created. It will draw renewed attention to the class of vessels of which she is the type and in the development of which the United States may fairly be said to have taken the lead.

Not since the old days of the sailing frigates have we been able to feel the same pride in a representative vessel of our navy that the Columbia inspires. We have not unwisely allowed other nations to carry on the costly experiments in ponderous battleships and coast defenders, and have been able to profit by what they have thus learned. In the modern swift cruiser we have struck out upon a line more nearly parallel with the achievements characteristic of the old navy, and it is on this line that we may expect the glory of our new navy to be won.

No Indians to Fight.

It turns out that the savage Indians who had congregated in Jackson's Hole with a view to the massacre of all the white people in the neighborhood were in fact huddled together there to defend themselves.

The only massacre that has occurred was the lawless slaughter of a number of Indians, and their comrades quite justifiably concentrated in a mountain fastness for mutual protection. Learning that the United States troops were coming, they knew they would be safe and they appear to have made off to their reservations.

It is clearly evident not only that the whites were the aggressors, but that the Indians did not even hit back. It is furthermore evident that the alarming stories sent east from Wyoming were deliberately concocted with interested motives, partly to embroil the Indians and get their hunting privileges curtailed by the government, and partly for the pleasure and profit to be derived from the presence of the troops.

There will be no fighting, and General Coppinger will take care that the Indians get fair play. If the whole charge of the Indians were entrusted to the War Department, there would be no more wars nor rumors of war.

THE story of the life of Kate Chase is indeed a sad one. She was the most beautiful and brilliant woman in Washington at the beginning of the war, and married a United States Senator in all the vigor of youth and one of uncommon fortune and promise. To-day she is impoverished, separated from her husband and plunged into the deepest sorrow.

It was announced a few days ago that a number of generous men had contributed the money to purchase Edgewood, the old home of her father, and give it to her, but it is now known that no such purchase was made, and she is compelled to give up the property and is almost entirely without resources.

The father of Kate Chase established our national banking system and rendered a service to the country during the war, as Secretary of the Treasury, that has never been equaled since the days of Hamilton. There are many yet living who made princely fortunes out of the confidence reposed in them by Secretary Chase, and they should not permit his daughter to suffer now. Edgewood should be given to her by those who can well afford to do it, and allow her to spend the evening of her life in comparative comfort.

WEEKLY FINANCIAL REVIEW

From our Regular Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3, 1895.

In the speculative arena, the contest between the higher and lower sides still wages fiercely, with varying results. The "bears" mainly concentrate their forces on the industrials as being both intrinsically and strategically the weakest. The "bulls" direct their support, with much firmness, to the railroads, and especially the Grangers. With ups and downs in both groups of stocks, however, prices do not on the whole vary materially. One of the main dependencies of the "bulls" is in the expectation of some settlement of Reading affairs that will place competition among the Coal roads under more conservative control; another of their hopes is that the trunk lines may perfect some scheme to prevent future cutting of rates; and yet another that a phenomenally large corn crop may greatly add to the traffic of the roads running through the corn belt.

The "bears" base their position on the contention that, on stocks at large, prices have already risen to their full intrinsic value, and that it is most conducive to an active and trustworthy movement that prices should be allowed to decline several points at least. Moreover, they insist that the uncertainty attending the position of the Treasury, especially in the event of the Syndicate withdrawing its protection, this is a matter that naturally produces some hesitation in the larger movements of capital. And it is not to be denied that not only do London advices report the beginnings of a feeling of that sort, but that the English market is showing more disposition to sell than to buy speculative properties. This may easily prove to be a more disturbing matter than we, in the midst of so much buoyancy of feeling, are at present prepared to admit. London appreciates at its full importance the fact that, at present, we have no real certainty that, within a few months, we may not find the Treasury reserve subject to a new drain; and it would be very much contrary to the usual precaution of that market if it did not discount the worst side of that possibility. Under existing circumstances, the speculative trans-Atlantic element has it in its power to force down the prices of our securities held there. By selling at New York, they might find it possible to precipitate the very export drain on the gold reserve the possibility of which they now foresee; aiming to thereby be enabled to buy in again at subsequent lower prices. This is a speculative opportunity too tempting for us to assume that the shrewd operators of London will surely allow it to pass unimproved.

There are those who assume that the recent large new negotiations of our securities in Europe will be continued to such an extent as to bring gold to this country, overlooking the fact that, even should such prove to be the fact, there will be no way by which the incoming specie can get into the Treasury when the Syndicate has closed its operations. It may be safely taken for granted that London and Germany will be distrustful toward us until some real and permanent protection of the Treasury reserve is provided; and that fact is a standing menace to exports of gold from this country. There is no evading the force of this fact; and it is a very unwise sort of optimism for financiers to shut their eyes against it. The true policy of conservative Wall Street, at the present moment, is not to passively hope for the best when the worst is possible, but to unite its whole influence in order to establish conditions which, without the help of syndicates or any other artificial and transient contrivances, will permanently shield the Treasury against all possibility of losing its gold. That is the imperative need of the hour.

These are factors, however, which are not exerting much force at present. Just now the market is in control of strong hands who see in the excellent business outlook and the prospect of a big corn crop the best of arguments for lifting the market to a higher level. The stubbornness with which stocks are held is much in favor of such manipulation. When stocks refuse to decline as they did with remarkable resistance in July, the trading element who are chiefly interested in activity are apt to try their success in putting them up still higher. There are not a few large operators who would like to see the market have an additional advance, so that better reasons for a reaction could be found than at present offer. August is frequently a month of rising prices; and while the more distant future demands caution, it would give us no surprise if those now in control of the market succeeded in obtaining better prices before general realizing sets in.

Big Show Coming.

Scribner & Smith's New United Enormous Shows will be at Bellefonte, Saturday August 10, bigger, greater and grander than ever before, fully twice its former size. They will have 300 men and women, 100 thoroughbred horses, 3 bands of music, 3 golden tableaux cars, 15 gilded cages, 3 open dens of wild beasts, 8 big tents. It is without doubt the best 25c. circus that you have had an opportunity to visit. One of the principal features of this big show is Bazal, the giant elephant, the largest of the brute creation. Another added attraction to this enormous traveling organization is the Bleysbok, an animal idolized by the Egyptian as an omen of good luck.

Don't fail to see the grand free street parade at 12 noon on day of the show.

Small Beginnings

Make great endings sometimes. Ailments that we are apt to consider trivial often grow, through neglect, into atrocious maladies, dangerous in themselves and productive of others. It is the disregard of the earlier indications of ill health which leads to the establishment of all sorts of maladies on a chronic basis. Moreover there are certain disorders incident to the season, malaria and rheumatism, against which it is always desirable to fortify the system after exposure to the conditions which produce them. Cold, damp and miasma are surely counteracted by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. After you have incurred risk from these influences a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters directly afterward should be swallowed. For malaria, dyspepsia, liver complaint kidney and bladder trouble, nervousness and debility it is the most deservedly popular of remedies and preventives. A wineglassful before meals promotes appetite

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars; free.

Insanity Among Women.

The large increase of mental trouble among women is directly traceable to a diseased state of their peculiar and delicate organism. Much of this is brought about by carelessness late hours, thin shoes tight corsets, over-work, anxiety and sometimes excesses. When her delicate mechanism is disabled or deranged nothing equals Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in restoring it to order.

GOOD HEALTH GOOD HUMOR

It isn't much trouble for a really healthy man to be good humored. Jollity and exhuberant health are a proverbial combination. The hearty man who is always laughing doesn't have any trouble with his digestion, It has been said that laughing makes people healthy. The truth is that health makes people laugh.

There isn't any other thing so essential to health as regularity in the action of the bowels. Most all sickness starts with some derangement of the digestive functions. Good digestion means good, pure blood, and that means strength. Once let the bowels become clogged with refuse matter, and the whole system is deranged. Impure, poisonous matter gets into the blood and plants the seeds for all sorts of sickness.

Whenever there is a stoppage of the intestinal action, help should be given immediately. Usually a mild, gentle laxative is all that is necessary. A violent, wrenching, griping cathartic is never needed. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most pleasant and successful remedy for occasional or chronic constipation, or costiveness. They are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules that even the smallest child can easily take. They act in perfect accord with nature and produce no griping or other disagreeable feeling. They should be taken at the first indication of digestive trouble. They stop sour stomach, belching, "heart-burn," flatulence and sick headache. They cure constipation permanently. You can stop taking them after the bowels are thoroughly regulated. Their help lasts. You do not become a slave to their use as with other pills.

Warning to Young Men.

How many young men bankrupt their constitutions, squander their vitality and ruin their health by pernicious practices generally contracted through ignorance. Nervous exhaustion, debility, dullness of mental faculties, impared memory, low spirits, morose or irritable temper, fear of impending calamity, and a thousand and one are the derangements of mind and body which result from such indiscretions, Epilepsy, paralysis, softening of the brain and dread insanity are not unfrequently the result of unnatural habits contracted in youth through ignorance of their destructive character, and persisted in until the constitution is wrecked. Such unfortunates are surely entitled to the tender sympathy, the noblest efforts and the best skill of the medical profession. To reach re-claim and restore such unfortunates to health and happiness, is the aim of association of medical gentlemen, who, having had a vast experience in the cure of the class of maladies herein hinted at, have prepared a comprehensive, scientific, treatise, written in plain but chaste language on the nature symptoms and curability, by home treatment, of such diseases. The World's Dispensary Medical Associations, of 663 Main Street, Buffalo N. Y., will on receipt of this notice enclosed with ten cents (for postage), mail, secure from observation, in plain, sealed envelope, a copy of this useful work, which should be read by not only every young man in the land but also by every parent, guardian and teacher having care of the young.

Grand Army Day.

The Juniata Valley Campmeeting association, which to a large extent has assumed the form of an assembly, having special days for a number of associations or societies, has this year set apart Saturday, Aug. 17, as Grand Army Day.

It is the purpose of the association to provide every possible comfort for the enjoyment of the "Defenders of Our National Soil," Rev. M. L. Ganoe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, an old soldier and one of the most eloquent men in Central Pennsylvania, will preach the sermon.

Governor Hastings and other dignitaries are expected to be present. The association, therefore, extends to all the posts a most cordial invitation to be present.

The boarding house, restaurant, etc., have been leased to other parties, but arrangements have been made with the lessees to furnish meals to all the members of the posts and their families at 30 cents a meal. All who desire can take their lunch with them, enjoying the day in one of the most beautiful groves in Pennsylvania.

There is reason to expect a large number of posts from Central Pennsylvania, but the accommodations will be ample for all. The Pennsylvania Railroad company and all their branches, and the Broad Top Railroad company will sell excursion tickets. Those intending to go can notify J. K. Rhodes, at Lewistown, of their acceptance and the number who will likely take meals.

Table Talk.

The modern woman is a good housekeeper, the modern text-book on housekeeping is TABLE TALK, filled with good, sensible suggestions, newest, most reliable and original recipes, newest menus and decorations for the table and all special occasions,—in short it is one of the best comprehensive magazines obtainable on household matters; it is the housekeepers best friend and safest counselor. The August number opens with an article on the "Kitchen Garden Its Origin and Growth," from the pen of Emily Huntington, the originator of Kitchen Gardens. "Ourselves as others see us," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland an able domestic writer; the "Housekeepers Inquiry" Dept., filled to overflowing with recipes suited to the summer months. This department alone, is, we think well worth the subscription price of the magazine Mrs. Myers talks to women, and the "Fashions" by Miss Forney, and the menus for each meal in the month by Miss Johnson are only a hint of the good things in this number. Sample copies are free to our readers. Published by the Table Talk Publishing Co. Philadelphia, for 10 cents per number and one dollar per year.

Endeavorers to Meet at Erie.

The Christian Endeavor state convention to be held at Erie, beginning Thursday, August 22 and lasting four days, will be the largest meeting of the kind ever held in Pennsylvania. A tent is being prepared that will hold 7,500 people. Every arrangement is being perfected for the comfort and convenience of the expected throng, including accommodations for 5,000 visitors. Rates will be about $1.25 a day.

News of the Saratoga.

Capt. Charles Lawrence, president of the board of directors of Pennsylvania Nautical School, has received a cablegram from Superintendent Strong, of the schoolship Saratoga, announcing its arrival at Havre, France, on Thursday. The ship after a two weeks' stay at Southampton left that port early Monday morning. The Saratoga left Philadelphia June 6, and if Superintendent Strong's itinerary is carried out, will return to home port during the first week in October.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, Aug 5, 1895.

From our Regular Correspondent.)

The American who can hear the Treasury officials talk about the gold reserve without experiencing a sense of humiliation has a queer make up. These officials never refer to the Secretary of the Treasury nor the administration, as having the power to keep the gold reserve intact, but always to their reliance upon the power of the foreign bond syndicate to protect the gold reserve. When asked about last week's heavy withdrawal of gold from the Treasury these officials say "oh, that's of no importance." They then proceed to inform you that the foreign bond syndicate would have prevented the withdrawal of that gold had it deemed it necessary to do so, and have the gall to add that the foreign bond syndicate has since last February lived up to its contract and protected the gold reserve. Do you understand what that statement means? Humiliating as it is, it means that the democratic administration, convinced of its own lack of financial ability, paid the foreign bond syndicate $10,000,000—the profit on the bonds sold to the syndicate—to guarantee the protection of the gold reserve in the U. S. Treasury from February to October, and, instead of being heartily ashamed of the disgraceful deal, democratic officials actually gloat over it and constantly express their satisfaction over the bought protection they are enjoying. Secretary Carlisle felt so secure that he has with his own and one of his son's families gone on a junket through the Great Lakes, on a government light house tender. It is fortunate for the country that only two months will elapse from the expiration of this dearly bought and disgraceful protection of the U. S. Treasury and the meeting of the Republican Congress. Republicans have never found it necessary to pay foreigners to maintain the credit of the U. S., and never will.

The Allison boom was brought to Washington a day or two ago by Hon. J. N. Baldwin, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who is a good talker, and who has it all fixed, in his own mind. He said: "I expect to see Senator Allison nominated and elected President. His 35 years experience in Congress; his thorough knowledge of economic questions; his familiarity with tariff and finance; his broad guaged ideas and conservative stand on all the great issues of the day pre-eminently fit him for the great office." Up to this point any good republican will agree with Mr. Baldwin, but in what follows many will not: "Mr. Reed is too far east; Gov. McKinley represents a too extreme view of protection; Gen. Harrison has had his turn and acquitted himself nobly, but it isn't in the book of destiny for him to inhabit the White House again. So it is apparent that of all the distinguished men mentioned Senator Allison takes precedence by reason of his superb qualifications and his availability." No republican would, judging from what those who come to Washington have said, object to Senator Allison as the party's candidate, but with the exception of Mr. Baldwin none of them have credited him with any chance for the nomination, except in the event of a deadlock between those who will enter the convention with more votes. His whole strength lives in his being an ideal compromise candidate; but suppose no compromise is needed?

That deal between the administration and Joe Blackburn is off, very much off. Blackburn broke it up, but his friends say that it was because he found out that the administration was trying to keep his mouth shut by trickery, while it was steadily plotting to prevent his being returned to the Senate. According to the best obtainable information it is to be war to the death from this time on. Blackburn is bitterly denouncing the administration from the stump, and more determined, his friends say, than ever in his preference for a republican rather than a Cleveland democratic senator from Kentucky.

The democrats are becoming as much alarmed about Maryland as they have been for some time about Kentucky. The Cleveland democrats are disgruntled over the knock down that Senator Gorman has given them, and so far they have refused to accept the soft soap given the administration in the resolutions adopted by the Gorman State Convention as an equivalent for the nomination of an entire Gorman ticket. Members of the administration are trying to bring pressure to bear upon the Maryland Cleveland democrats to make them work for the Gorman ticket, not that they love Gorman, but because they fear the capture of the state by the republicans. Some of the Maryland anti-Gorman democrats have said openly that they would be glad to see Maryland carried by the republicans because it would not only kill Gorman as a presidential candidate, but would destroy his influence, both at home and in the democratic national convention. The Maryland republicans are not disdaining any assistance from the anti-Gorman democrats, although they are confident of carrying the State.

Tests a Man's Honesty.

A contemporary says that newspaper subscriptions are infallible tests of men's honesty. They will sooner or later discover the man. If he is dishonest he will cheat the printer some way—declare he has a receipt somewhere—or will take the paper and not pay for it on the grounds that he did not subscribe for it—or will move off leaving it coming to the office he left.

WEATHER PREDICTION.

Foster Tells of Storm Waves to Cross the Continent This Month.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm wave to cross the continent from Aug. 4 to 8, and the next will reach the Pacific coast about Aug. 9, cross the west of Rockies country by close of 10th, the great central valleys from 11th to 13th and the eastern states about 14th. Average rain fall may be expected from this disturbance principally along the central latitudes of the United States.

Warm wave will cross the west of Rockies country about Aug. 9, great central valleys 11th and eastern states 12th. Cool wave will cross the west of Rockies country about 12th, great central valleys 14th and eastern states 16th.

August is the most difficult month of the year for which to forecast the storms. It is one of the tropical storm months and as we are not yet able definitely to forecast these tropical storms, as they always break up the regular weather conditions on the continent, the dates of dangerous storms become uncertain.

Indications, however, are that within a few days of Aug 6 and 19 the most severe storms of Aug. will occur on the continent and the tropical hurricane will be of greatest force on our Atlantic coast within a few days of the 29th. Near Aug. 6 will also be a favorable date for severe tropical storms.

I expect the greatest tropical hurricanes of the year to occur within a few days of Sept 18. I cannot give the location, except that its force will be felt along the southern coast of the United States.

Junior Order United American Mechanics.

Commencing Tuesday, September 17th, the State Council of Pennsylvania, Jr. O. U. A. M. will hold its annual session in the city of McKeesport, Allegheny county. It is expected in many respects to be the greatest in the history of the Order. The committee of arrangements of the McKeesport Councils have provided for the comfort and enjoyment of every member of the Order who will accept their pressing and earnest invitation to attend and participate in the festivities of the occasion. Tuesday afternoon, a parade of the several Councils of the Order and the Commanderies of the United American Mechanics will take place. A magnificent fireworks display, and Reception and Ball on Tuesday evening; Memorial exercises on Wednesday evening; a Boat Excursion on Thursday evening, with Concert Music and other entertainments not yet enumerated, will make up a program to please everyone.

Gambling Without Limit.

"O, George!" she exclaimed, as they gazed seaward. "There seems to be no limit to old ocean's broad expanse. And the waves, how they gamble along the shore." "The waves are very foolish, dear." "How, foolish?" "To gamble where there is no limit." But not half so foolish as are thousands who dying with consumption are staking their last chance on this or that remedy which has never yet been known to cure, and refusing to try that which certainly brings them back to life and health—Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In the earlier stage of this terrible disease it is a positive cure, while even in the last stages it gives great relief and prolongs life. For weak lungs, spitting of blood, lingering coughs, Asthma and kindred ailments, it is guaranteed to cure or benefit or money paid for it will be returned.

After Moonshiners.

Uniontown, Pa., August 1.—Twenty "mountain dew" stills are said to exist in two townships in Fayette county. County Detective Campbell has just returned from Springfield and Salt Lick townships along the Somerset border, making discoveries that will probably result in a number of arrests. Two stills of considerable pretentions have been definitely located in a rough part of the mountain, far away from road or habitation, and the revenue officials notified. They will probably be confiscated. Old Bill Fritz, the murderer of Hochstetter, is again operating a small still in the mountains not far from his home. This discovery was made by a party of surveyors. There is talk of organizing a posse to raid the illicit distilleries.

—Members of the Improved Order of Heptasophs are pleased to learn that there is to be no assessment made for the benefit fund for August. All subordinate conclaves up to and including No. 364 are required to pay an assessment for expenses. The more recently organized conclaves are not included in this assessment. The Heptasophs, which has a local conclave here, has a membership in the United States of 23,500. There are in all sixty-four fraternal organizations in the United States that do business by the lodge system with ritualistic ceremony. Last year they are said to have paid death benefits amounting to over $22,000,000.

C. E. County Convention.

The third annual convention of the Centre County Christian Endeavor Union will be held in Philipsburg August 27th and 28th. The executive committee is hard at work, determined, if possible, to make this the best convention ever held in Centre county, as well as the largest. A good live program is being prepared for the several sessions. Prominent speakers will be present and address the meeting. All members of the Union, as well as the public in general, are invited to attend.

NOMINATED FOR GOVERNOR.

How the Democrats Pooled Their Issues in Maryland.

Baltimore, July 31.—Mr. John E. Hurst senior member of the big dry good firm of Hurst, Parnell & Co., was this afternoon nominated for governor by the democratic state convention on the first ballot. Senator Gorman and I. Freeman Rasin thereby scored a decisive victory over their opponents, the Cleveland democrats. The ticket was completed by the nomination of Marion DeKalb Smith, of Kent county, to succeed himself as comptroller of the treasury, and of State Senator Charles C. Crothers of Cecil county, for attorney general.

The surprise of the convention was the almost total desertion of the re-assessment advocate, State Senator Thomas G. Hayes. He received but two votes on the roll call. A stormy scene is said to have taken place between Mr. Hayes and Senator Gorman just before the convention met, which undoubtedly accounts for Mr. Hayes's lack of votes. It is credibly stated that Mr. Hayes accused of base deceit and double dealing and ended up his tirade by charging the senior senator with having sold him out.

The platform adopted by the convention contains a strong endorsement of both the national and state administrations; reaffirms the democratic national platform of 1892; favor reassessment of all the property in the state, and says the best tariff law the country has had in thirty-five years is restoring confidence and renewing prosperity in all branches of industry.

There was no allusion whatever in the platform to Senator Gorman. It was stated this was his desire, and he gave as a reason that his course at Washington was not an issue in this campaign. The platform was unanimously adopted.

The Lesser Evil.

"It seems strange that every passenger on board the train which was wrecked should have perished in the burning cars?"

"Well, you see, the majority of them escaped in the first place and were congregated beside the track, attending to the wounded or watching the flames, when Jawsmith, the life insurance agent, mounted a convenient bowlder and announced that he would occupy the time till the arrival of the relief train, by making a few appropriate and timely remarks on the subject of life insurance. Thereupon the whole company cried out in a loud voice and rushed right back into the blazing wreck, mercifully carrying the wounded with them."

"And Jawsmith?"

"Oh, he rushed in after them to finish his remarks."—Truth.

Union for Temperance

The movement for the co-operation of all religious denominations in the temperance work is shown by the progress reported in our local columns to be moving straight to the largest degree of fruition. The highest and most encouraging evidence of Christians union is shown when Protestants and Catholics join hands for the mitigation of the evil of intemperance.

It will be an interesting and inspirating evidence of the genuineness of this movement when the mass meeting next Oct. is addressed by such speakers as Archbishop Ireland and Bishop Watterson. The impetus which such a gathering will give to the great effort of all the churches will be a great one with the plans now forming put into full operation, it is not hazardous to predict the greatest results from the broadly conceived work.

To the Seashore.

On August 15th and 29th, the Beech Creek R. R. will run two more low rate excursions to the seashore. The season at the Ocean Summer Resorts is now at its heighth and the low rates and excellent train service in connection with the Beech Creek route, come at a very opportune time. The fares good to return within ten days, to Atlantic City, Sea Isle and Cape May, are from Lock Haven, $5.50, from Philipsburg $8.35, from Clearfield $8.90 and proportionate rates from all other points. Stop off can be made at Philadelphia. In this connection it would be well to state that the rates given above cover transportation over the Reading railroad's double track "Royal Route To The Sea," the safest and fleetest scheduled trains in the world.

Bank Examiner Resigns.

Greenville, Pa. Aug. 1—Bank Examiner A. F. Henlein has resigned his position which pays $4,000 a year, and on the appointment of his successor will devote his whole time to his banking and legal interests here. Considerable speculation will arise as to his successor, as the Harrity and anti-Harrity factions are sure to lock horns over such a plum. Mr. Henlein was appointed last year to succeed Wm. Miller, who committed suicide at Altoona in the Second National bank, the institution that Cashier Gardner robbed.

A Novel System.

A novel cooperation system has lately been started among the carpenters and painters of San Francisco, through which the individual workmen are becoming owners of homes of their own without any cost for construction. As soon as any member of the local organization has saved enough money to buy a lot and the necessary lumber, all his fellow workmen turn to the next Sunday and build the house for him.

The New Parliament.

The Parliamentary elections have been completed in Great Britain and Lord Salisbury comes back into power with a Unionist majority in the House of Commons that appears to make him master of the situation. It remains to be seen what he will do with it. At present he has no definite policy and it is not believed that he will develop any at the first session of the new Parliament. It will be asked simply to vote the supplies and adjourn to await events.

One unmistakable result of the party change is the indefinite postponement of Home Rule for Ireland. While it is true that this issue had been practically abandoned by the late Liberal ministry and was not pressed in the canvass, there was no other issue brought forward in its place and the increase in the Liberal Union strength indicates the English temper on the subject. But the Irish question will not down, and if Mr. Balfour should be led to try his repressive policy again, it may once more become a burning question that will break up the present apparent harmony.

Aside from Ireland, nobody seems to understand exactly what these elections do indicate, except in a negative way. Various kinds of fads have been voted down, and Radicals, Socialists and crank reformers are given notice to quit. Lord Salisbury knows what he is to avoid, though he never was in danger of running to fads, even with a faddist like Chamberlain for his colleague. But a modern government cannot stand still, and it is when Salisbury comes to do something, to propose some definite domestic legislation that the fun will begin. Though the Conservatives have apparently secured a long lease of power, the shrewdest political prophet might hesitate to guess how long it will endure.

A Foolish Claim.

The case of Maria Barberi in New York has aroused such a degree of public attention that the inevitable extremist has appeared. That the case affords good reason for commutation of the death penalty is hardly to be doubted; but when we find a large number of people putting themselves on record as holding the opinion that the girl just right and should not only go unpunished, but be praised for her action, they simply afford food for reflection on the superabundance of fools.

The case is that of an ignorant girl, betrayed and then scorned, goaded, perhaps by desperation and perhaps by jealousy, into a murderous act of revenge. To the assertion that this is a case for commutation of the death penalty there will be little dissent. But when the sentimentalists go so far as to claim the privilege for women who have been so deluded of killing their betrayers without any punishment at all it is time to call a halt. Maria Barberi's sentence should be commuted, but care should be taken to show that there is no recognition of the foolish claim that any one is entitled to the private privilege of murder.

The Bannock War.

We are apparently at the beginning of another Indian war. As usual it is a war which need never have occurred and would never have occurred but for the needless ill-treatment of the Indians.

So far as the facts are known they are as follows: The Bannocks killed game on United States lands, as they had a treaty right to do. They were arrested for violating the game laws of Wyoming, though those game laws would seem to have no possible application to government lands.

Being arrested they have been butchered on their way to jail on the pretense that they were trying to escape. It will now become the duty of the federal troops who know and regret the wrong done to these "wards of the nation" to "return them to their reservation," which is the official way of saying to fight them to a finish.

It has been the misfortune of the army that the men who provoke Indian wars have never been the men who had to fight them out.—New York World.

THEY WANT BOWER.

Huntingdon Democrats Say the Centre County Man Suits Them.

Huntingdon, Pa., Aug. 2.—The members of the democratic committee of Huntingdon county met here to-day and elected the following persons delegates to the state convention, which will be held in Williamsport on the 17th of September; J E. Henderson, Spruce Creek; J. B. Kean Alexandria, and Samuel Miller Shape Gap.

The following resolutions was adopted: "The democratic committee of Huntingdon county, having assembled this day in pursuance of the call of the chairman hereby declares that the three delegates elected to represent the county at the state convention to be held at Williamsport, shall do everything in their power to further the nomination of Hon. C. M. Bower of Centre county, for judge of the supreme court, and that the delegates elected be instructed further to favor the nomination a full state ticket with respect to the judiciary, namely: Six candidates for supreme judge."

The committee meeting was largely attended, nearly every district in the county being represented, and the proceedings were entirely harmonious. Ex-Sheriff D. Wilson presided.

Very Bad Reasons.

It may be, and doubtless is true, as Senator Dubois claims, that the Bannock Indians are a "lazy, shiftless, non-supporting tribe; but that fact does not present any good reason why the treaty compacts of the United States should be nullified and over-ridden by the people of a State organized since the National faith was pledged.

It is also probably the case that the Bannocks are as savage and merciless in war as they are worthless and idle in peace. But that also presents no reason why they should be driven into hostility by the determination of the whites to monopolize for their own profit the game to which the Bannocks are entitled under a fair construction of their treaty with the General Government.

Up to the present time the only lives lost have been those of Indians killed by the whites; and the sentiment of the alleged civilized population seems to be in favor of having them all killed. Senator Dubois' assertion that "the extermination of the whole tribe would be no great loss" seems to express the belief of the settlers that, because the Indians are bloodthirsty and worthless, therefore white civilization must display an equal degree of deliberate cruelty, based on unqualified greed.

If the agreements of the National Government afford no constraint, respect for civilization should certainly prevent the whites from taking the course that would show them to be better than the Indians.

To Be Rehabilitated.

Pottsville, Pa., August 2.—The Pottsville Iron and Steel company, owners of a large rolling mill, steel mill, bridge works and three blast furnaces, which went into the hands of receivers about a year ago, it is understood will be recapitalized and taken out of the control of the receivers before this month expires. During the past twelve months the receivers have done but little work but when the contemplated arrangements are completed the different mills of the establishment will be run to their full capacity, which will require about 1,000 men, most of whom will be high-priced workmen. The Pioneer furnaces, the property of this company, are among the oldest anthracite furnaces in the state. These and the other branches of the plant were successfully operated prior to his death by the late C. M. Atkins for many years.

Trouble In Chester.

What's the matter with Chester County? Quay was so cock sure of it a week or so ago. He isn't to-day.

"Chester will be solid for Senator Quay" declared ex-Senator Harlan with emphatic positiveness. This was about the middle of July.

He was in Philadelphia the other day.

"What are the prospects in Chester?" a reporter asked him.

"Well—I—er—I think it will be all right" he replied hesitatingly.

Which, not to put too fine a point upon it, show that Quay's Chester friends is far from being satisfied with the state of affairs in this county. And he has reason to be ill at ease.

Prof. Davis Released.

On Tuesday Prof. Davis, the chap who became entirely too intimate with Mrs. Redding, of Howard, and was sentenced to one year was released from the county jail. The Prof. served one year and three months, and when he came out he was considerably bleached.

Upon his departure one of the prisoners wrote out an appropriate memorial for the Prof. in verse and posted it on his vacant cell. He was an ill-natured and very unpopular inmate.

Death of Samuel G. Gutelius.

On Monday night Dr. S. G. Gutelius died at his home in Millheim. The deceased had been suffering from dropsy for some time which ultimately was the cause of his death. The interment occurred on Thursday. Mr. Gutelius was a member of Co. D. 150th Regiment P. V. I. (Bucktails) and served from the time of his enlistment to the close of the war.

He was a dentist by profession, and during the recent republican administration was appointed postmaster at Millheim. His wife died several years ago. Two sons and one daughter survive him.

Attacked by a Hog.

Mrs. Lemuel Vain and 6-year-old son Raymond, of Baltimore, are visiting that lady's sister, Mrs. Charles Leinbach, at Antes Fort. A few days ago the lad was playing with rabbits in the garden, when a hog attacked him. The boy's scalp and face were badly gashed and torn by the hog's tusks and feet. The screams of the child summoned assistance. Clubs had to be used before the angry swine could be driven away. There were more than a dozen wounds on the boy's head, some of which required several stitches to draw them together.

Identified by His Victim.

Philadelphia, July 31.—W. Pester, a farm hand, was arrested last night at Tacony, a suburb of this city, on the charge of being the highwayman who yesterday robbed and assaulted Mrs. Mary McKensie near the Simpson Grove camp-meeting grounds.

Pester was identified by his victim. He was giving a hearing to-day by Magistrate Smith, but as Mrs. McKensie is suffering from nervous prostration and was unable to appear he was held for another hearing to-morrow.

A posse of Montgomery county farmers, who threatened lynching, searched all day yesterday for the assaulant, but the police eluded them after capturing Pester.

MINERS SAVE THEMSELVES.

Exciting Scenes Witnessed Last Night Near Scranton.

Scranton, Pa., July 31.—The village of Peckville was wild with excitement this evening when a report spread like wild fire that the interior of the Sturges mine, situated there, was a mass of flames and the lives of twelve men were in danger. The fire broke out at 6 o'clock in the pump house and fourteen mules were cremated but after a most thrilling experience the twelve men escaped by an old air shaft, being drawn to the surface in a small bucket.

It required a very short while for the fire in the pump house to extend to the mule barn, where were seventeen mules, three of which were gotten out with difficulty. The fact that the twelve men were able to save themselves was probably due to the bravery of the pump runner, Ed Williams, who as soon as he discovered the fire, bravely ran through the mines and warned all the men he found at work. He risked his own life, but twelve men live to bless him. He continued at his task so long that he was overcome by smoke and an hour later was discovered in a stupor, from which he finally rallied, being pronounced out of danger in the evening. The fire was finally gotten under control, and when the ruins of the mule barn were visited there were ample evidence of the terrible suffering that the poor brutes had undergone.

Ten Now Under Arrest.

Birmingham, Ala., July 31.—The sheriff's posse that went to Brookside, the scene of the race riot, last night, returned this morning with ten negro rioters under arrest, two of them were taken from the enraged populace after ropes had been placed about their necks. No work whatever is going on at the Brookside mines to-day, as the people are too much excited over the events of last night to do anything. Negroes gathered about in groups discussing the situation, while the whites feel very bitter towards the negroes. Half a dozen deputies are still on the ground and succeeded about noon to-day in arresting Jim Bridges, one of the leaders among the negro rioters. He tried to use his rifle, but was overpowered. It seems that in last night's fight the negroes were entrenched in a ditch when the officers attempted to arrest them, and were able to fire from cover, thus shooting down Deputies Wood and Baxter. Half a dozen women were among the negro rioters, one of whom is in jail. Bob Sims, colored, who to-day was found wounded in a cabin near the scene of last night's battle, will die.

CALLS IT A FAKE.

A Furrier Says the Massacre Story Was Concocted in a Saloon.

Salt Lake, Utah, August 1.—E. Mehesy a furrier of this city, who has just returned from the Jackson's Hole country via Rexburg, Ida., with a consignment of elk-heads and bearskins, which he bought from the Indians who have been hunting in that region, says the stories of danger are mostly fiction. He was present in the saloon at Rexburg when the story of the massacre of fifty settlers was concocted and written to be sent out.

"The people up there," said Mehesy, "regard the whole business as something of a joke. Of course they know it has its serious things, and don't mind the danger. Their object in calling for troops is to get the Indians out, so as to save the game for the settlers and for the tourist hunters, who furnish employment and revenue for the settlers in the summer. Incidentally, they make considerable out of supplies for troops who come in.

"I have an order for two Indians scalps. When I told the chief of scouts with the Ninth cavalry what I wanted he laughed. 'You are more likely to get darkey scalps,' he said, meaning that the colored cavalry are more likely to get hurt than are the Indians.

"Beaver Dick, who has lived in Jackson's Hole for forty years and has a Bannock wife, told me that the Indians might make some trouble, but that there would be no raids on settlers. He said if anybody made trouble it would be the settlers, not Indians. He has gone to the Gros Ventre mountains to advise the Indians to keep quiet until the excitement dies down.

About forty families passed through Soda Springs after dark and they are still coming. A number of tourists are leaving Soda Springs, believing it safer at other places. All settlers in Star Valley have fled to the upper part of the valley and are fortifying themselves at Alton, Wyo. This leaves all property at the mercy of the Indians.

Answer to the N. Y. "World's" Attack on Wall Street.

If the New York Stock Exchange should insist upon an expert accountant's examination of the affairs of a corporation before listing its securities hereafter, it would, I should think, meet the World's recent ground of complaint as embraced in its attacks of late against the New York Stock Exchange. I do not see any other cause of grievance that the World has against the Exchange but what would be remedied by this action.

Every corporation whose shares are dealt in in Wall Street ought really to have its accounts examined and audited at least once a year by an expert accountant, somewhat after the form of examination of our National banks by the Bank Examiner.

The great confidence of the public in the National banks of the country is largely based upon their periodical examination by officers of the Government, as bank examiners are.

I think the World has been too severe upon Wall Street in its recent attacks. There is a bright side as well as a dark side to Wall Street. The good that Wall Street has accomplished in its time for this country immensely overshadows the ways that are dark, such as complained of in the World's recent articles.

This country has to-day about 70,000,000 population, distributed over an immense territory. Some are diving low down into the bowels of the earth for its various minerals of inestimable value, others are tilling the soil in every State in the Union at the present time, producing crops soon to be harvested, comprising say 8,000,000 bales of cotton, 2,400,000,000 bushels of corn, 400,000,000 bushels of wheat, 710,000,000 bushels of oats, and immense quantities of fruit and vegetables, to say nothing of hay and numerous other products, which in point of value alone aggregate many hundred millions of dollars.

What has made this immense annual yield of crops possible? Is it not owing to the fact of the ability of the producers to send them forward to all parts for distribution by the network of railroads that cover the whole country, comprising a mileage double that of the balance of the world. Would it have been possible for those railroads to have been built but for the machinery of Wall Street? But for these railroads, that Wall Street has been instrumental in constructing, would the population of the country to-day be 70,000,000 people. Doesn't this great product above mentioned and that of previous years contribute to the great wealth of this nation, especially that of New York city and the great distributing centres? But for Wall Street there would not have been any greater mileage of railroad in this country in all probability than there is in Russia, China or Japan, and instead of the population being 70,000,000, 20,000,000 would probably be the full extent of the number; in which event, instead of the circulation of papers published now by the New York World being 550,000 a day, as reported, it would probably be only about 10,000 or thereabouts; so that Mr. Pulitzer has something to be grateful to Wall Street for in being enabled to publish a paper with a circulation of 550,000 a day, which never could have been accomplished if the railroads of this country had not been built through the aid of Wall Street influence, machinery and money.

Wall Street is a great distributor, as exhibited by the Clearing House transactions. There are bad men in Wall Street, as may be expected to be mingled among so many who congregate there; there are also "black sheep" to be found in the church and all other walks of life. It is scarcely fair for clergymen and others to make a wholesale onslaught upon Wall Street on account of a comparatively small number of "black sheep" found amongst its number. It is a centre that everybody looks to as an index to the country's prosperity. Wall Street virtually moves the money that controls the affairs of the world. It is universal in its benevolent efforts, practically unlimited by either creed or geography. Wall Street has done more general good in its aid to scientific discovery than all the Scientific Societies combined. Through the power of electricity, Wall Street is in closer sympathy with the heart of civilized humanity than all the missionaries and philanthropic societies in the world. Wall street gives full value for everything it receives, and the country at large is deeply its debtor. Some people may think this a paradox, but there is nothing more easily demonstrated to those who have observed the industrial and commercial progress of the country and the age. Wall Street has furnished the money that has set the wheels of industry in motion over this vast continent, and in one century has brought us, in the industrial arts, abreast of countries that had from one to two thousand years the start of us. In this respect it has assisted nobly to carry out the ideas of the fathers of the Constitution, who laid down the doctrine that it would be a betrayal of the interests of posterity to limit the productive energies of this country to raw materials. Wall Street has really supplied the sinews of war to cope with the forces of nature, to work our mines, build our railroads, produce our crops and to attract the teeming populations from every clime to cultivate our fertile soil and develop our wonderful industries and resources.

HENRY CLEWS.

Veterans Will Encamp.

The following circular, which explains itself has just been issued by the president and secretary of the Juniata Valley Veteran association:

In accordance with the plan proposed in former circulars and advertisements delegates who had been appointed for the purposes from the several counties in the district met in Lewistown yesterday and organized what they agreed to call the Juniata Valley Vetern Association. A constitution for the government of the Association was adopted and officers elected for the year 1895. All honorably discharged soldiers who reside in the counties of Bedford, Blair, Fulton, Huntingdon, Mifflin, Juniata, Perry, Snyder, Centre, Union and Northumberland are eligible to members without the payment of any fee whatever. The constitution provides for the holding of yearly encampments in some one of the counties named in the district. Amid much enthusisam it was decided that the first encampment should be held in conjunction with the Lewistown Centennial, commencing September 4 and closing on the morning of September 7. A sufficient number of tents will be furnished by the State and will be up and ready for occupancy by Comrades September 4.

Camp Hulings, the name of which it will be officially known, will be located only a few steps from Lewistown borough railroad station. We are more than pleased to announce that the citizens of Lewistown have generously donated funds sufficient to light the camp with electricity, furnish an abundance of water and clead straw for tents and wood for those who wish to do their own cooking on camp ground. An efficient guard will at all times be kept on duty at the camp so that the property of the comrades may be entirely safe. All this will be done without one cent of cost to the veterans. Those who intend to go into camp, however, should bring blanket soap and towels. There will be a restaurant on grounds where ladies of the G. A. R. will furnish meals at reasonable rates. Comrades can, however, if they prefer, be accommodated at any of the eight hotels in town, the rates per day being as follows: National House $2.00; Coleman House $2.00; Miller House $1.50; St. Charles Hotel $1.25; Kline House $1.00; Keystone Junction Hotel $1.00. Railroad rates are not fixed, but will be announced later.

There will many novel and attractive features of the Lewistown Centennial which will add to the pleasure and enjoyment of the visiting veterans. From information already received we are able to announce that this, the first encampment of the Juniata Valley Veteran Association, will be a grand success. As soon as possible we would like to have the different Posts send us an estimate of the number who will attend in order that sufficient accommodations may be provided. This is all important. Come, boys, and renew again the associations of other days, when as patriots in blue you slept on the tented field, made long marches and fought the hard battles that only patriots can fight.

All further information may be had by addressing the secretary W. Trout at Lewistown.

Give Them a Chance.

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 1.—Major Levi Wells, dairy and food commissioner, issued a circular letter to-day to all manufacturers and dealers in articles of food in the state, directing their attention to the act of March 13, 1895, creating the department of agriculture, which makes it the duty of the dairy and food commissioner to inforce all laws relating to the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine and imitation dairy products and adulterated articles of food.

The acts relating to the adulteration of food products, vinegar and apple products being of but recent enactment, it is thought by Maj. Wells but fair and just that some time should elapse before action is taken under their provisions. He gave notice, therefore, that after Oct. 1 next samples to be used as a basis for prosecution may be withdrawn.

Death of Eve Markle.

About three o'clock Thursday afternoon Mrs. Eve. Markle, who resided near Roopsburg, died after an illness of a number of months with dropsy. She was one of the oldest residents of this county, being 99 years of age. Although so old, she was straight as an arrow and retained until the last possession of all her faculties, her eyesight being unusually good. She is survived by several children, among whom are John T. Markle, of near here; several other sons who are farmers throughout the county; and Mrs. Pennington. During her illness she was attended by the latter lady who, herself, is a great-grandmother, so that Mrs. Markle was a great,-great-grandmother.

When Mrs. Markle was 83 years old she broke her arm. The injured member was set by Dr. E. S. Dorworth, and full use of it was restored to her even at that age, and she has knit a great many pairs of stockings with it since the accident.

It means something when a cheerful giver puts his hand in his pocket.'

Departed for Glencairn.

Company B, fifty men strong and commanded by First Lieutenant George B. Jackson departed in two special cars on the 10.09 train west Friday morning for the annual ten day's camp at Glencairn, on the Allegheny Valley railroad. The men were all in good shape and presented a very striking appearance. Although the company has a number of newly enlisted men in it, there is no reason why it should not this year maintain its usual high standard of rating, which last year was the second best in the regiment.

They Both Are Stubborn.

A nice point in the U. S. postal law is up for settlement between the postmaster at State College, Thomas F. Kennedy, and the man who transports the mail from the office to the train and back again. It all comes of where is the proper point for the carrier to deliver the mail. Squire Hoy has the contract and he maintains that the curb is the proper place, while the postmaster wants it delivered in the office. The question has been submitted to an attorney and, until his decision is received, both parties are being lenient by making the point of delivery the door. The whole dispute is the outgrowth of the College reports which, until this year, were sent from the Bellefonte postoffice. There are probably eight or ten tons of this stuff to handle in a year, and it is quite an item.

Sheriff Tamsen UnderBail.

New York, Aug. 1.—The grand jury which has been investigating the escape of the postoffice robbers, Allen, Russell and Killoran from Ludlow street jail on July 4, to-day handed in indictments against Sheriff Tamsen, ex-Warden Raabe, of Ludlow street jail, ex-Keepers Schoen and Schneer.

Later in the afternoon Sheriff Tamsen was arraigned before Recorder Goff. He was accompanied by Edward Groose, his counsel. He was arraigned on two indictments, one under section 89 of the penal code, for felony, and the other under section 117, for a misdemeanor.

Lawyer Groose entered a plea of not guilty with leave to demur. Recorder Goff fixed bail at $1,000, which was furnished.

A McKean County Girl.

A Bradford paper says: The wife of H H. Holmes, alias Harmon Mudgett, alias H. H. Howard, the monster accused of the murder of Pietzel and his three children, who is in the Philadelphia jail convicted of insurance frauds, was a modest, kind hearted, bright McKean county girl. Her name was Miss Myrtle Belknap. Her girlhood was passed in Eldred with her parents. Later the family moved to Minneapolis. At this place she met and married Holmes. After the marriage, in company with her husband, she visited her aunt, Mrs. Reuben Dennis, of the Central hotel, in Eldred, and her aunt, Mrs. Dean, of Olean. Holmes was a pleasant appearing man and the relatives and friends of Miss Belknap were well pleased with her husband, never believing the pleasing exterior and affable manners concealed such a villainous character. During the Chicago exposition Mr. and Mrs. Holmes lived in Chicago and were visited by McKean county friends. At this time he was in the drug business and had already laid plans for swindling an insurance company. His wife left him and returned to her parents in Minneapolis. The cause of the separation is not known to the Eldred friends. After his wife left him he married again and went to California. He returned in about a year and commenced his career with the Williams sisters.

Died 170 Years Apart.

Although difficult to believe, it is nevertheless true that the death of two half-sisters, the daughters of the same father, occurred 170 years apart. The grandfather of the British Minister, Charles James Fox, Sir Stephen Fox married in 1654, and had a daughter born to him in 1655, who died in the course of the same year. He had several other children, who grew up and married, but all of them died before their father, and without issue. Sir Stephen, not wishing his large fortune to fall into the hands of distant relatives, married again at a very advanced age, and his youngest daughter was born in 1727. She reached the age of 98 years and died in 1825, that is, 170 years after the death of her oldest sister. She saw Queen Victoria when the latter was a child, while her half-sister was carried in the arms of Oliver Cromwell.

Editor's Note.

The citizen for August contains upon the first page a striking editoral upon the Pennsylvania election laws compared with those of New York, Massachusetts, and Illinois. It appears that Pennsylvania is peculiar in leaving registration and the correcting of the lists entirely in the hands of one man in each election district, and that in many other particulars the precautions taken in other States to guard the ballot box are so neglected as to seriously jeopardize fair elections. This is a matter which cannot be allowed to rest if Pennsylvania has any respect for free institutions.

In the same number the reading of novels is discussed both editorial and in an article. Some interesting facts about the co-operate societies of Great Britain are contained in an article by a member of the Oldham (England) Co-operative Society.

The Campaign of Assassination.

(From the Doylestown Intelligencer.)

When Senator Quay, in his angry telegram to ex-Lieutenant Governor Davies, called the war in which he had engaged a "campaign of assassination," he was prophetic of the policy of his supporters. Their methods have been a disagreeable revelation to decent Republicans. Day after day hundreds of Republicans in Bucks county are the recipients of one or more free copies of a Philadelphia newspaper filled with abuse of well-known Republicans, called the "hog combine," the very men who, until they refused obedience to the Junior Senator's wishes and declined to join in the raid on Governor Hastings, were the intimate and apparently admired associates of Mr. Quay. If they are as debased as they are now painted it is most marvelous that Senator Quay could have entertained them as his friends all these years and yet escaped contamination. For of all the circle of his late intimates, Andrews and Leach seem to be alone remaining to him—their and Quay's own escape from the influences lately surrounding them being marvelous. Whether Quay whose money is supposed to pay, directs the revilings, of this Philadelphia scolding journal, it is impossible to say. The daily assaults upon those who stand for the Governor are neither forcible nor persuasive. Snarling and growling at the "hog combine," as all are termed who oppose Mr. Quay, does not appeal to the intelligence nor sympathy of patriotic Republicans. It has also a peculiar impropriety because one of the publishers of the said freely circulated paper holds an honorary appointment as an aid on Governor Hastings' staff, a social position as well as an official place, whereby the Governor is sometimes his host, as well as his commander. If the Governor is so far wrong as the paper represents why does not the staff aid resign? If the Governor is good enough for the young man to hold on to a place on his staff, why does the newspaper attack the aide's superior officer?

Helped to Amputate Beaver's Limb.

Dr. J. W. Allen, a well-known and successful homeopathic physician, died at his home in Altoona Sunday afternoon. Dr. Allen was born at Carlisle in 1831, and was a graduate of Dickinson College. He studied medicine and graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1861. Going into the army he became assistant surgeon of the One Hundred and Forty-eighth Pennsylvania Volunteers, commanded by General James A. Beaver, and helped to amputate that officer's leg at Petersburg. He was a Knight Templar and also belonged to the Knights of Pythias.

—Peaches are beginning to arrive in Bellefonte but they are as yet high in price and inferior in quality.

—It is highly probable that the Pine Grove Mills extension of the Bellefonte Central railroad will yet be completed this summer.

—The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. John Laurie, of East Lamb street, was buried Wednesday morning at 9.30 o'clock, Rev. W. O. Wright, of Milesburg, officiating.

—The excursion to the Sea Shore via Pennsylvania R. R. Thursday, Aug. 15th, will no doubt be patronized considering the unusually low rates and facilities offered.

—According to the Hornet the Magnet has found another new correspondent. This fact ought to give that paper a big circulation in the new country, if the Hornet's statement is correct.

—Rev. Jamas P. Hughes is about 67 years old but when on a bicycle and in good trim, he can ride with the average young man and even give some of them a good chase to catch him.

—On Sunday, August 25th, Christ's Union church at Hecla, will be dedicated to the service of god. Rev. I. M. Pines and other ministers will be present to assist at the dedication and every one is invited to attend.

—Mr. Gilbert Beaver is now international College secretary, and Mr. Hugh Beaver is the State Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. Both young men display much of the zeal and energy of their father, Judge James A. Beaver, of the Superior Court.

—Large red posters announcing the approaching annual picnic of the Logan Steam fire company were put up on Friday evening. The program given for the day includes an almost exhaustive list of amusements, dancing and good music.

—The county commissioners gave an order last week for a large safe, to be placed in the Sheriff's office, at the jail. This was a good move as it makes public records in that office secure now. Too much risk was taken in this direction in the past.

—The tennis tournament which has been going on at the stone school house grounds during the past three days, is not yet ended. It has been a series of well-played games which furnished a fair amount of amusement for those participating as well as the onlookers.

—Ask some men for an advertisement or a few locals and they will say they don't believe in advertising, but let one of them be caught kissing his neighbors wife, and if the printing office is in a garret of a seventeen story building he will climb up to the top and beg the editor to keep quiet.

—Last Saturday afternoon Harry Poorman, while attending a sale, had a pocketbook stolen from his coat pocket in which was a check for $7.50 drawn by John A. Miller. The man who stole the same had better return it, as payment has been stopped, and all merchants and business men are hereby notified not to accept the same.

—Miss Laura Rumbarger, of East Bishop street, Bellefonte, who is an expert florist, is the possessor of a beautiful flowering hydrangea which contains eight of the largest flowers, seven of which measure from thirty to thirty-three inches in circumference, and have been in full bloom for more than two months. They are of a beautiful pink color but are now showing signs of beginning to fade.

—An accident occurred at Morris' Coleville quarries, early Tuesday morning, whereby Lemuel Poorman was terribly burned on his right side. His face and arm being the worst burned. He had put in a blast at the quarry and while engaged at that work some powder fell into a crevice in the rock. It became ignited later and caused a premature explosion, resulting in the serious burning of the unfortunate man. He will be laid up about a week.

He graduated at Brown University in 1828, and was ordained a deacon in 1832. In 1871 he was raised to be the first Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Central Pennsylvania, a position he filled ably and faithfully until 1889, when he withdrew from active work. He was married three times. His third wife survives him. He leaves a number of sons and daughters.

—A weather bureau official in explanation of the cool weather at this season of the year says the lands in North America become heated, producing low area and high temperatures. The warm weather settling over the Pacific ocean and Bering sea produces "mountains" of temperature, and as the temperature in and about Bering sea is always cool, a high pressure is produced and forces its way over the country from the northwest, bringing with it low temperature.

—In Saturday's primaries Hastings got at least 8 out of 9 delegates in Luzerne county and 1 in Lackawanna. Quay got 2 in Huntingdon, 1 in Luzerne, 1 in Clinton, 4 in Dauphin and carried the counties of Susquehanna, Elk, Snyder and Lebanon.

—Bald Eagle creek is becoming a famous resort for bass fishermen, and hardly a day passes that does not find some half a dozen or so Bellefonters squatted along its banks exhausting their manifold arts in a vain endeavor to entice the wary fish to bite.

—The increased valuation of real estate in Bellefonte this year, which increase is about $235,000, makes it possible to reduce the tax mill rate and according to the recommendation of the Finance committee of borough council Monday evening, the total borough millage is reduced 2 mills, or from 11 to 9 mills.

—The school board is doing a commendable thing in putting a ventilating fan in the stone house. This building, for years past, has been in a deplorable condition so far as ventilation is concerned, and if anything can be done to improve it, it should be done, and we are glad to see that it is being done.

—The storm of Tuesday afternoon and evening was one of the most terrific that has occurred in this section for some time. The rain descended in such heavy showers as to soon make rivers of every street in Bellefonte on which the water could run. However, no damage was done, so far as learned at this writting.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

A Long Session in Which the Tax Millage Was Reduced.

Council convened on Monday evening with members Miller, Gerberich, Hillibish, Brockerhoff, Bush and Valentine present. President Miller called the meeting to order and clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous session, which were approved as read.

At the conclusion of the reading of the minutes President Miller took occasion to welcome H. C. Valentine, the new member from the North Ward elected to serve out the term made vacant by the resignation of Judge Beaver, then in a neat little speech which had been prepared specially for the occasion, introduced Mr. Valentine to the other members, and closed by appointing the new member to the same positions on the various committees as was filled by Gen. Beaver. The hour being a little late, Mr. Valentine was excused from reading his inaugural address, which was a very able and lengthy document.

There were quite a number of visitors present and the first verbal communication was by Mrs. Bradley, who complained against what she considered an unjust assessment of water tax, she being assessed $3.25 and occupying but one room, while others in the same house, who occupy three rooms, are assessed but $2.25.

Dr. R. G. H. Hayes reported the dangerous condition of a crossing between his and Mrs. Bush's property on Spring street.

Dr. T. R. Hayes was present and complained against an increase in the assessment of his water tax from $12 to $19; asking a reduction of the same to the old price. The Dr. also complimented council on the new composite crossing put down at the north line of the property of W. Fred Reynolds on Allegheny street, and asked that a similar crossing be put on the opposite side of the street.

Mary DuBois (colored) applied for an exoneration of taxes.

Harry Yeager was present and asked that the crossing from the Macbride corner to the Brant House be put in better condition. Mr. Dawson asked for a new crossing from Loeb to Lieb property, on Spring street.

D. F. Fortney and D. W. Bartley appeared before council in regard to a new ventilating system in the Stone School house. It is proposed to put in a fan to supply 30,000 feet of cubic air an hour, and what the school board desired was the privilege of putting in a water motor to operate the fan.

J. Malcolm Laurie asked for a crossing on Water street to his new steam Laundry, and Mr. Gerberich asked for a crossing on Thomas street.

The Street committee reported bridge completed and bill presented; road leading to show ground repaired; put in a sewer and down a crossing on Allegheny street between Reynolds and Noll's residence; a large number of crossings have been asked for; the engineer took a grade of Munson's alley and found that Allegheny street was one foot nine inches lower than Spring street; the distance through Munson's and Tripple's alley to the creek was measured and the estimated cost of a 5x3 foot sewer would be from $1,500 to $2,000; the sewer in Locust alley was opened and cleaned out; some stone have been broken on overseer of the poor and tax orders—only necessary repairs having been made.

The Water committee reported pipe laid and water conveyed into the Union cemetery; pipe repaired on East Bishop street and a connection made with the Catholic parsonage. The reservoir has been cleaned and repaired and several other leaks repaired. The pumps are now running but thirteen hours a day against twenty-four hours at this time last year.

The Fire and Police committee reported the police in new uniforms, but not yet wearing helmets.

The Market committee reported $19.70 market fees collected during the past three weeks.

The Finance committee recommended as the tax millage for the ensuing year, 2 mills for borough; 3 for street, and 4 for interest. This is a reduction of 2 mills on the total from last year's millage.

S. H. Diehl made his appearance at this juncture and asked for a grade for a stone pavement in front of his property on Willowbank street.

At this juncture borough treasurer C. F. Cook made his appearance and presented his report which showed a balance due the treasurer of $13,075.57.

The complaint of Mrs. Bradley was referred to the Water committee; as was also the complaint of Dr. T. R. Hayes.

The numerous applications for crossings were referred to the Street committee.

The requst of D. F. Fortney was referred to the Water committee with power to act.

The request of Mr. Diehl was referred to the Street committee with power to act.

An appeal of Mrs. Mary V. Hale from the Water assessment was referred to the Water committee.

On motion of Mr. Hillibish the Street committee was instructed to proceed, according to ordinance, with the opening of South Potter street.

Mr. Gerberich called the attention of council to the unhealthy condition of the creek near the new depot, caused by the great obstruction and the discharge from several sewers at that point. After some discussion the matter was referred to the Street committee with power to act.

The complaint of Mrs. DuBois was referred to the Finance committee with power to act.

After the approval of the following bills, council adjourned.

A Big Day for Wheelmen.

At a meeting of the Tyrone Cycle club held on Friday evening it was decided that a five-mile road race will be held Saturday, August 24, and the course selected is over the Bald Eagle road by way of Northwood. The course will be put in shape at once. The wheelmen will turn out as a whole and put all their energy into the work and make the race a large, howling success.

The following committees have been selected, Race committee: C. H. Clark, chairman. H. F. Willhelm, H. Henry, J. D. Cox, C. E. Simpson, D. M. Wolfe, secretary. Soliciting committee, J. D. Cox, D. M. Wolfe, C. H. Clark.

The road race will be open for all class A men of the counties of Blair, Bedford Huntingdon, Centre and Clearfield. As soon as the sanction is received from the National Racing board the entry blanks will be mailed to the different bicycle clubs.

One of the features of the afternoon will be a "slow race" which will be mirth for all, and men who do not profess to be fast, may possibly be able to obtain a place in this race.

Now, here is a chance for some of the Bellefonte wheelmen to win honors.

All Well at Camp Greenland.

Up to this writing the gentlemen who promised to write the NEWS daily letters from Camp Greenland, has failed to materialize, but a card from a member of Company B, conveys the information that all are well and enjoying camp life as much as possible. On Sunday the camp was thronged with near forty thousand visitors. Scribner and Smith's Circus.

Every year for many past the press and public have been widly enthusiastic over the extent and magnificence of the Scribner and Smith's New United Enormous Shows which will be seen in Bellefonte August 10. This year it will surpass all previous ones. Indeed the big show has been vastly improved and enlarged in all its departments to a most wonderful degree In the circus department 30 big acts are given at each afternoon and evening performance by double the number of daring champion acrobats and equestrian artists in the big rings and upon the elevated stages. Then the menagerie has been greatly added to. The management still retain last year's features. Bazal the giant elephant the largest of the brute creation, and the Blessbok known as the Sacred Cow idolized by the Egyptians as an omen of good luck. Every detail of the ring performance has been considered. Managers Scribner & Smith having at an enormous expense, secured Willie Lowander, the champion bareback rider; also Mr. Frank Cooper conceded by press and public to be the greatest hurdle rider the world has ever produced, and last but not least, Dan O'Brion, the world's champion leaper, and a score of others equally as prominent. At the tap of the director's bell troops of acrobats and gymnasts execute a patfouri of marvelous feats and simultaneously the roof of the great canvas is alive with aerialists and specialists performing wonderful things in mid-air. On the whole it is the biggest and best 25 cts. circus that has ever visited this section and is deserving of a large patronage.

Druggist Krumrine Flim-flammed.

Up until Saturday evening druggist Krumrine had no faith whatever in hypnotism. Now, however, he is somewhat in doubt and, perhaps, even thinks that such a thing can be done. This shaking of his faith, or rather lack of faith, was brought about by the way a sleek appearing stranger flim-flammed him out of five dollars. It appears that the individual went into the drug store late in the evening, made a small purchase and tendered a ten dollar bill in payment. Krumrine gave him the change, after which the stranger discovered that he had small change enough about him to pay for the purchase, and asked Mr. Krumrine to give him his ten dollar bill back and he would pay the purchase. This was done, and in returning to Krumrine the change he had been given, the stranger forgot to hand back a five dollar bill and Krumrine did not discover the omission until the fellow had gone. He then hunted up the police and they instituted a search for the sleek individual, discovering him just as he was getting on the night train for Lock Haven. Under threat of immediate arrest the fellow handed over the five dollars; however, not without maintaining his innocence and swearing roundly that he would return this week and investigate the affair.

Later in the evening it developed that the rascal had been to Louis Dolls, Aikens, Bauers, Joseph Bros., and one or two other stores trying the same game, but his hypnotism failed to get in its work until he struck Krumrines. But then, as he got his money back, the young druggist need not feel so badly, as this is a trick worked in the cities most every day in the week.
